Upon consideration of this fact he was fined $5 and costs and discharged on condition of leaving the country at once.

The business of the European hotel has increased to such an extent that the proprietors have found it necessary to secure additional room. The Dick House, second door west of their present quarters, is being thoroughly overhauled and refitted to be used in connection with their present building. They expect to have everything completed by next week, when they will have their accommodations perfect. The new place is insured under a beautiful grove, which makes it very attractive for the warm weather, and which, no doubt, will be appreciated by the traveling public.

May you and your estimable wife travel the remainder of life's pathway without accident or sorrow in our best wish. We hope to see you reach in safety the next grand set on in life's journey—the golden wedding.

Had Mr. Clark been home no doubt a large gathering of friends would have testified in their usual manner to his esteem.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.

This Time at the Ninety-Nine Cent Store.

Two Hundred Dollars Loss.

Thursday the store of P. C. Backus, at 1206 Farnham street, was entered by burglars and a large amount of plunder carried off. The store is a long, two-story wooden building, which adjoins Caldwell & Hamilton's bank, and extends some distance beyond the rear of that building, the eastern wall being pierced by windows which let in the light from the back yard. These windows have always been devoid of shutters, and it seems somewhat strange that we have not been called upon to chronicle a burglary before, as entrance has been easy and practicable. No one has slept in the store for some two months past, and after being closed at night it has been virtually unprotected.

Thursday Mr. Backus closed the store at the usual time, saw that all the fastenings were secure, and locking the outside door, went to the Academy of Music to witness the play of "Our Goblins." On his return about eleven o'clock, everything was in place, and he left for the night, first making sure that the windows and doors were all fastened.

Yesterday, upon his arrival, as soon as he opened the door, he saw that a burglary had been committed. The goods had been thrown down from the shelves and heaped on the floor, the show cases filled with their contents, and a large quantity of jewelry, knives, pocket pistols and revolvers stolen and carried off, the total value of which he estimates at over $200. Entrance had been effected by breaking the glass in one of the windows on the east and through the aperture breaking of the two nails which secured the sash.

At what time the burglary took place, of course, cannot be determined, nor can the blame be laid on any officer of the force, the point at which the breaking occurred being entirely out of sight.

The frequency with which such occurrences have taken place of late in our city calls for some decided action, by which the town may be ridden of the tramps and roughs with which it is now infested. If the members of the new police force do their duty they will arrest all suspicious characters and make them give an account of themselves.

Coldest Store and Coldest Shoes, Slippers, and Ties, in the city, at way down prices. Every pair warranted. At HENRY DOYLE & CO. Leading Shoe Store.

Ice Cream and Strawberries at Tizard's Palace. Farmhouse's Prizes. Thursday was Omaha day at the state tournament at Nebraska City, our young friend Farmhouse, of the Omaha Workingmen's Sportsman's club, winning the three principal prizes against the best shot of the state. The state officers' cup, the $150 purse and the gold badge were all gained by the steady aim and unerring sight of the Omaha boy, and will be brought by him to this city as trophies.

Pure, delicious Ice Cream at Tizard's. Not an Omaha Brother. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago THE BEE published an account of the robbing of a minister by a prostitute in town, of the sum of $85. As frequent inquiries have been made concerning his name, and as suspicious seem to be directed in a wrong quarter, we have no objection to stating that the complaint and information was filed in Justice Riley's court by Rev. William Martin, a colored brother, who bore credentials from the missionary society east, and who was then a comparative stranger in our city.

Fresh Peas, Greens, Beans, Cucumbers, received daily (Mondays excepted) at Fleming & Co's.

Notes. The finance and relief committee of the Omaha workmen for the relief of the employees of the smelting works are requested to meet this (Saturday) evening at 8 o'clock at the law office of O'Brien & Bartlett in Union block, in order to discuss the situation and decide what steps to take. By order chairman of committee.

A Mysterious Bottle. A few nights ago a party of Omaha young men took a fishing excursion to Out-of-lake, a few miles above our city. They fished all night with considerable success, and were about pulling up their lines and starting for home, when, according to their story, they discovered a large whisky bottle, corked and floating on the top of the ## water.

It was taken in and found to contain a paper, damp and yellow, on which the following startling communication was written:

Wrecked off the point and our scow in a sinking condition.

If any one should run across this and memorize its contents, carry the news to our afflicted families. The water is now two feet deep and is slowly rising. HARRY DUEL, MART CLARK, M. KENNEDY.

The gentlemen above referred to deny all knowledge of the affair, but as we were shown the bottle we are inclined to credit the story.

The Smelting Works Problem

OMAHA, May 14, 1880.

To the Editor of THE BEE. The workingmen of this city should thank you for making, through the columns of your paper, an unbiased statement of their difficulty with the Smelting company, and for the fair way in which you report their proceedings. It is evident that THE BEE is desirous only of seeing fair play.

The problem of contented labor is not so difficult as the capitalists and their subsidized allies would like to make it appear. They will find the laboring men of this and all other cities ready and willing to do anything, that shall not sacrifice their manhood and self-respect, to meet capital half way in a just settlement of their difficulties. It was no surprise to the workingmen of Omaha to find THE BEE defending the supposed right of the capitalists to buy their labor at the auction block like hogs or cattle.

But if that venerable moralist thinks to frighten the workingmen of this city into their places, he reckons without his host. They may not be intimidated by the threats of the capitalists to buy their labor at the auction block like hogs or cattle.

It needs no scholar to see that in a city where the mercantile cannot be purchased for less than $10 per month, and where other necessities are correspondingly high, a man cannot keep a family in luxury on $1.25 or even $1.55 per day. On the other hand there is nothing save the unsupported word of the proprietors of the smelting works to prove their inability to do a little better by their hands.

The way out of this difficulty is plain. Should the company so far concede the rights of their men as to open their books before a committee of them chosen for the purpose, and it should there be found that the facts are as claimed—not a man but would at once return cheerfully to his post. Such is the course pursued by several of the factories of England, and it has uniformly worked well, and should be tried in this country it cannot fail.

The laboring men of free America will not always submit to the auction block process. To the tollers behind a share of the joint earnings of capital and labor, and this conflict will not cease until they get it. That labor should be regularly employed and well paid is an inalienable law of nature, for therein depends their lives and the lives and well-being of those dependent on them. The country needs strong, healthy, and therefore well-fed and well-clothed husbandmen; but it does not need millions of idle paupers. The former are its strength and support; the latter only an element of danger to free institutions and engines of oppression to all classes of industry, sacrificing the welfare of millions yearly to their greed.

Laboring men of Omaha close up your ranks. Your organization should include every man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow in this city, whether with the spade or the pen. In a fight to prevent the bitter oppression of labor by monopolies your cause is one and united—you must succeed in all just demands for a higher and better life. AMICUS.

Arbitration. OMAHA, May 14, 1880. I read with pleasure your proposition in regard to the settlement of the smelting works difficulty. I believe that arbitration, wisely used, is the only thing that will prevent a destructive combat between capital and labor. The tempting but delusive and misleading principles of Kearneyism are deeply rooted in the minds of the working people, and are converting society into a smoldering volcano, that is likely at any moment to break forth and bring ruin to the very working people who are creating it. Your influence is great among the working men, and I am glad you are using it for their good. As to the enclosed lines I hope they, if you treat them kindly they will second, even though feebly, your efforts to secure a peaceful settlement of the present troubles. Whether you reject my poetry or not accept my thanks as a citizen for your efforts to secure peace.

TRACK TALK.

Will the Alton Road Build to Omaha?

Prospect of a Competing Line to Chicago.

Notes and Brevities.

There is considerable speculation among railroad men over the report that the Chicago & Alton railroad is considering the project of a connection with Omaha, giving it a through line between this city and Chicago.

A reporter of THE BEE had an interview yesterday with a prominent railroad man of our city on the subject: "Have you heard the report that the Alton line propose to build to this city?" asked the reporter.

"Yes, I read it Thursday, but am at a loss to know where the information came from. I know that the Alton road have for some time past been getting one-tenth of the freight business coming to this city from Chicago."

"Do you think such a connection practicable?" "Certainly. Once let the Alton build a road from the line where it crosses the Mississippi, at Louisiana, and it will compete favorably with the direct Omaha and Chicago line. A connection could be made which would make the line from Chicago to Omaha less than fifty miles further than the direct line, and this distance is nothing with freight traffic. The Alton has already been felt as a formidable competitor of the pool line, and if it once gets direct connection it will show itself still more so."

"How about passenger business?" "In regard to passenger traffic, it is a question of business with the local passenger agents. Most passengers go on the cheapest road, and to two-thirds of the traveling public a fifty cent cut on an agent's commission does the business. I think the Alton road can build a line from the Louisiana route and compete favorably for both freight and passenger traffic, and I think the Washburn will come in for a share of the same cut."

A. & N. road is nearly completed to Columbus, and to-day the track will cross the Union Pacific.

All arrangements will be completed for transporting delegates and visitors to the republican convention next Wednesday.

The B. & M. line was finished to Indianapolis on May 1. A station house, terminal facilities and stock yards are now being erected, and trains will be running regularly to Indianapolis over the extension about the 25th.

The B. & M. is constructing an extension from Ambury up the Big Blue quite rapidly. Twenty-five miles of track have been laid from Red Cloud, and the grading is progressing rapidly up to the road east of Spring valley.

A telegram has been received at the B. & M. headquarters in this city, stating that the post office department has ordered that postal cars be put on the B. & M. railway to run between Omaha and Hastings, commencing July 1st, that being as early as the service can be ordered under the law. This action is necessitated by the immense amount of mail business on this road, the business having increased so rapidly during the past year that the present accommodations for handling it have been found entirely inadequate.

The B. & M. will at once build three of them according to plan and specifications to be furnished by the postoffice department. It is thought that this number will accommodate the business for some time to come.

Twelve cars on the west bound Union Pacific train yesterday.

Council Bluffs complains that the Pullman office at that point is not kept open according to law. A new water tank is being built at Millard station. It rests on six iron pillars, and has a capacity of 45,000 gallons. The water will be pumped out by a large wind mill that has been erected near it. The work is nearly completed.

Eighteen cars of railroad iron were received in Omaha Thursday. Passengers arriving from the west Thursday encountered snow at Rawlins, but weather at Cheyenne, and 95 degrees at Omaha.

Mr. Jerome McClintock has been appointed agent of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific company in Council Bluffs, vice J. S. Wilson, resigned. The appointment will take effect May 15.

Private advices received by J. M. Eddy, general agent of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, are to the effect that the Denver & Rio Grande railway is now open for business to South Arkansas, sixty miles west of Carson City. This leaves only forty miles of wagon haul between the end of the track and Leadville. The road will be completed to Leadville before July 1.

A THRIVING CITY.

The Metropolis of Western Iowa and Commercial Rival of Council Bluffs.

Correspondence of THE BEE.

HAMBURG, Ia., May 13.—Hamburg, a busy town claiming three thousand five hundred inhabitants, is the largest and most important town in Fremont county, the extreme southwestern county of Iowa. Its location, just where the bluffs come down to meet the valley, is naturally a very beautiful one, and has been rendered far more enchanting by the hand of man, in planting trees along nearly every street and adding many other adornments. Always a pretty place, it is at this season of the year, when the trees have lately put forth their leaves, especially so.

It is on the K. C., St. Jos & C. B. railroad, about midway between Kansas City and Council Bluffs, and as a branch of the C. B. & Q. railroad connects it with their main line at Council Bluffs, its shipping advantages are very good.

The surrounding country is an excellent one for agriculture, producing in abundance all the grains and fruits common to the latitude. As the country is peopled with an industrious class of citizens, it can well support a thriving business place like Hamburg. Even at this, the thirteenth of the year for trade, when nearly all the farmers are busily engaged in planting their corn, the streets are every day crowded with teams. From the amount of business done now, we may in a measure judge of what it will be in the busy seasons. Nearly all the business buildings are solid structures built of brick. Quite a number of buildings are at the present time in course of erection.

Among the many business men, we met J. H. Christen, purchasing and commission agent, dealer in agricultural implements, wagons, buggies, &c. He pays the highest cash price for grain, and notwithstanding the dullness of the times he is doing a thriving business, and reports everything prosperous.

Shepherd & Orcutt are dealers in self and heavy hardware, stoves and tinware. J. Nichols is dealer in foreign and domestic fruits, vegetables, butter, &c., confectionery and cigars; and in calling upon him I find his motto to be "Live and let live."

Of these varied in legal lore are Dalby and Holmes both very pleasant gentlemen and able lawyers. W. J. Yowell is the new proprietor of the Hamburg house, and those who become his guests will be well accommodated, and find him a genial landlord.
